Extensive Conflagration in Brooklyn—Loss of $400,000.

At 4 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the rear building attached to the Excelsior Steam Engine Factory, on South Third street, Eastern District of Brooklyn, and before any alarm was given, had got under considerable headway. This building, and the main one adjoining, were filled with valuable machinery, and the flames spread with great rapidity to the East River. The fire soon spread to the adjoining property, and, in a range of brick and wooden buildings occupied as a distillery by Balmer, Peckham & Co., and extending from Third street to the East River, a distance of 200 feet, and covering an entire square, was entirely destroyed with its contents; also, a dwelling-house occupied by employés of the distillery adjoining, and three stables to the large Porcelain Factory carried on by Mr. Haxtun for a Company in New-York, which was entirely consumed; and the Lime and Cement yard of Chamberlain was also considerably damaged. The fire raged with fearful fury for nearly six hours, and by great exertions the firemen confined the fire to the limits above stated, and saved the front building of the Sugar Refinery.

Assessed value of property destroyed: Excelsior Steam Engine Factory, $100,000; insured for $50,000. Balmer, Peckham & Co.'s distillery, $150,000; insured for $100,000. Porcelain Factory, $20,000; insured for $10,000. Chamberlain's Lime and Cement yard, $10,000; insured for $5,000. Dwelling-house, $2,000; insured for $1,000. Stables, $1,000; insured for $500. Total, $333,000; insured for $167,500.

The Excelsior Steam Engine Factory was owned by Messrs. Hoe & Co., and was occupied by them for the manufacture of their celebrated Lightning Printing Presses, and other machinery. The loss on the building, machinery, and stock is estimated at $200,000; insured for $100,000. The fire originated in the rear building attached to the Excelsior Factory, and was largely assisted.
